From "Pomp and Circumstance" to tossing the cap

Laura Young
Riverbend News

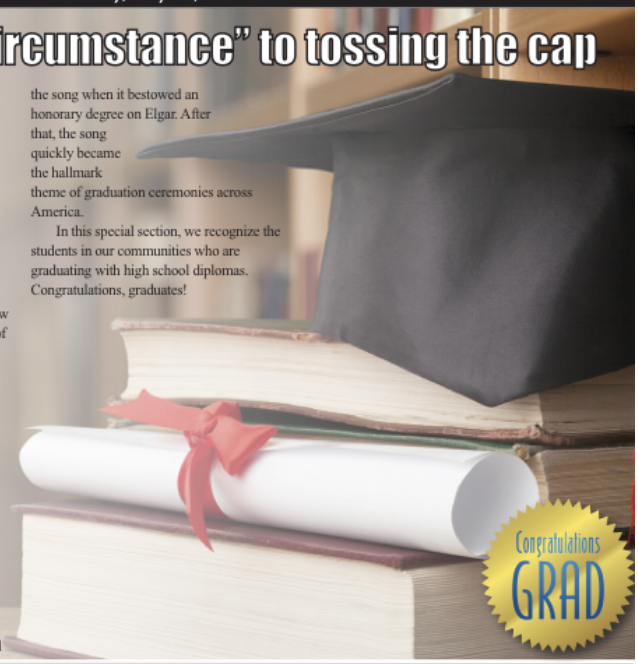
It's graduation time, and students everywhere who have completed education programs are donning academic regalia and marching toward their diplomas to the stately tune of "Pomp and Circumstance." This final shared experience with their Class of 2026 usually includes traditions that date to medieval times, along with other ceremonial flair unique to each school and class.

Today's graduation gowns are similar to those worn by scholars as far back as the 12th century, who used them to show their status, but also to keep warm in the unheated buildings of their schools. The graduation cap, called a mortarboard, also dates back to those same medieval scholars, whose headwear signaled the rigor of their educational endeavors.

The tassel began as mere ornamentation but has since evolved to take on increased symbolism. Moving the tassel from one side of the cap to the other signifies the student's transformation from candidate to graduate. This simple act carries several layers of meaning that represent the work involved in earning a diploma and the transition from one phase of life to the next. When a graduating class does this all together during their ceremony, it creates a special moment of collective celebration for the shared accomplishment.

The playlist for graduation features Edward Elgar's "Pomp and Circumstance," a processional march first performed in 1902 to honor the coronation of King Edward VII of Great Britain. Three years later, Yale University played the song when it bestowed an honorary degree on Elgar. After that, the song quickly became the hallmark theme of graduation ceremonies across America.

In this special section, we recognize the students in our communities who are graduating with high school diplomas. Congratulations, graduates!



Suwannee High School

Suwannee High School's graduation will take place on Saturday, May 23, at 8 p.m. It will be held at Paul Langford Stadium, located at 302 Parshley St. S.W., in Live Oak.
